

ANNUAL REPORT 2022-23

Samudayik Kalyan Evam Vikas Sansthan (SKVS)

From the Secretary's Desk...

It is with great pride that we present the 19th Annual Report for 2022-23, showcasing our unwavering commitment to the social development sector. Our focus encompasses women's empowerment, livelihood promotion, quality education, and healthcare for all, and, most importantly, the protection of child rights and prevention of child labor, and sexual abuse.

This year, our main focus was on the protection of child rights and the prevention of child labour by creating awareness among the community and informing people about the rights of children. Many activities were carried out under the program, including community meetings, street plays, skits, school intervention programs, campaigns through social and digital media, public campaigns, and distribution of IEC materials to create awareness in the community. Importantly, 53 children were rescued, 4 cases of child marriage were prevented, and 7 infants who were abandoned after birth were rescued by the team and restored by the Childline Team 1098 Kushinagar. The organization disseminated information on health and nutrition, child rights, food rights, and security, and provided details about government schemes and program convergence in their activities.

In education, we focused on quality education, especially among Dalit children, carrying out various types of activities to promote education among Dalit children. We proudly share that approximately 1,000 Dalit girls were enrolled in school/college, and 353 dropout girls continued their education including counseling of more than 3000 parents. SKVS also provided nutritional support to children up to 5 years old and created awareness among adolescent girls regarding health and hygiene.

In the year 2022-23, livelihoods for thousands of rural families were promoted through different income-generating activities because we cannot imagine the real empowerment of women without economic development. Livelihood was a significant issue after COVID-19, especially for Dalit people living in rural areas and dependent on agricultural activities. Our programs focused on and promoted livelihood by providing skills development training, seed money, and raw materials support.

All these programs and accomplishments would not have been possible without the continued and generous support of our donors, partners, local administration, community members, and the highly committed SKVS team members. On behalf of SKVS, I extend heartfelt gratitude to all. The hard work, dedication, and commitment of our board members and staff are warmly acknowledged.

It is hoped that the achievements of the year 2022-23 will set new milestones for the coming year 2023-24.

Thank you very much

Reeta

Genesis of organization:

Samudayik Kalyan Ewam Vikas Sansthan (Community Welfare and Development Society), popularly known as SKVS, is located in Kushinagar, and is a voluntary and feminist organization led by a group of women. The organization was established to ensure the rights of Dalit, minority, and socially excluded women and children, lead to social equality and justice. The SKVS board comprises 7 women representatives from marginalized sections, SHG federations, and prominent individuals. We have primarily been involved in advocating for access to entitlements and rights of marginalized communities such as the Musahar (erstwhile rat-catching community), Muslims, and Scheduled Castes in our working area throughout Kushinagar since its inception. We have advocated for land rights, women's rights, and child rights for these communities. Thanks to the collective efforts, women from these marginalized communities have now started understanding various issues and government schemes, and they have begun demanding their rights and entitlements from the relevant authorities—a previously uncommon situation.

The empowerment of Dalits, Musahar, and minority communities through targeted interventions addressing their socio-economic conditions is the primary focus of SKVS programs. We have adopted a rights-based approach to provide equality and justice to exploited Dalit communities. Conducting fact-finding surveys on cases of Dalit atrocity is a regular feature of our work. Currently, SKVS is a key member organization of DAG (Dalit Action Group) and manages all its affairs with the support of other member organizations.

Pillars of Engagement

SKVS focusses on several key thematic areas to empower communities in difficult and remote areas. The key pillars of engagement of the organization are as below:

Child Rights and Protection

As an organization, we are very sensitive and active on child rights. SKVS aims to protect and prevent children from incidents of abuse, exploitation, violence, and ignorance. This includes commercial sexual exploitation, trafficking, child labour, and harmful traditional practices, such as female genital mutilation/cutting and child marriage. A child's rights include the right to health, education, family life, play and recreation, an adequate standard of living, and protection from abuse and harm.

SKVS started working with a concrete plan under the project Mission Vatshalya schemes, with the support of CHILDLINE INDIA FOUNDATION, Mumbai, under the Ministry of Women and Child Development. This government-sponsored program has been running since 2015 in the Kushinagar District, U.P.

Activities carried out under the program include community meetings, street plays, skits, and school intervention programs, campaigns through social and digital media, public campaigns, and distribution of IEC materials to create awareness among the community. We covered a large number of people in our intervention area with concerted efforts to stop child labour, child marriage, abuse, trafficking, and the rescue of runaway and missing children. Additionally, the organization worked with a comprehensive approach, including counselling sessions, parents' meetings, meetings with stakeholders, local NGOs, service providers, Child Welfare Committee, etc. Under this initiative, SKVS organized training programs for local stakeholders, including police, government officials, community leaders, and volunteers to enhance their understanding of child rights and child protection issues

Under all our initiative and awareness drive, we strongly recommend the use of toll-free number 1098/121.

The salient features/achievements of Childline project Kushinagar:

- 53 children were rescued in the year 2022-23
- 4 cases of child marriage stopped
- 14 child labourers rescued
- 7 infant babies, who were abandoned at birth, rescued

Different meetings at the district level have been organized to create awareness.

A similar project on child rights and protection was also implemented in 10 villages of Dudahi block in Kushinagar district with the support of Terre Des Hommes. The project primarily covered the age group of children 0-18 years and youths up to the age of 25 years. Under the project, we organized children and youth by forming groups in each village. The project provided information on health and nutrition, child rights, food rights and security, and informed about government schemes and program convergence in their activities.

The project established children's cooperatives in each village, focusing on nutritious food beneficial for health, including coarse grains like madwa, kodo, tagun, pulses, and green vegetables, which have high nutritional value and fulfil the nutritional needs in our bodies when included in our routine diet. This approach is integral to address malnutrition issues in children. The project also promoted kitchen and nutrition gardens in intervention villages.

The initiative also focused on child rights and protection through natural means, incorporating activities such as puppet shows, street plays (nukkad natak), food feasts, and capacity-building programs for women, health awareness programs, celebration of international days, etc.

The salient features of the project are as below:

- 503 dropouts and 359 out-of-school children, all from the SC (Musahar) community, were enrolled in school and regularly attending classes.
- 280 people gained employment under the MGNREGS program.
- 192 farmers started kitchen gardens, growing a variety of vegetables.

Education

Under various articles of the Indian Constitution and the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, free and compulsory education is provided as a fundamental right to children aged 6 to 14. The current status of school education in India has improved significantly over the years, but several challenges still need to be addressed. Lack of access to education, poor infrastructure, low quality of education, gender disparities, and high dropout rates are some of the critical issues that need urgent attention.

With the aim of promoting education for all children, SKVS initiated projects in three blocks, namely Vishunpura, Kasia, and Padrauna of Kushinagar district in Uttar Pradesh, with the support of the MALALA Fund. The project has been operational in 54 villages across the three blocks since 2018. The primary goal of the project is to institutionalize educational benefits for Dalit (SC) children. The project has undertaken various activities to promote education among Dalit children, such as group counselling, community awareness through street plays, meetings with girls' group members, home visits, and computer literacy programs for girls, organized sports events, and celebrations of international days to ensure the active participation of girls. Additionally, the project created awareness among girls by organizing life skills training, training on health and hygiene, information about available services, and helpline numbers. The project focused on reintegrating drop-out girls into the mainstream through proper counselling and educational support.

The project has enabled girls to become more conscious about their health and hygiene. They also actively participate in sports and games. With better awareness, parents are proactively supporting the education of their girl child. Overall, this intervention has helped reduce gender based discrimination in the intervention areas.

The salient features of the project are as below:

- ❑ 3000 parents were counselled on the importance of girls' education.
- ❑ 215 girls were enrolled in schools and colleges for further education.
- ❑ 353 dropout girls were enrolled in formal schools, including (Kasturba) residential schools run by the government.
- ❑ 225 girls applied for scholarships, and finally, 82 girls received the scholarship grant for education.
- ❑ 54 school management committees formed and activated.

Health

The effects of malnutrition in children under the age of 5 years include underweight, stunting, wasting with or without edema (previously known as marasmus and kwashiorkor, respectively), and even death. Malnutrition is the most severe consequence of food insecurity among children under the age of 5 years.

With the support of the Jiv Daya Foundation, we provided nutrition support to 61 children aged 6 months to 5 years from the disadvantaged Dalit (SC) group. This initiative helped children increase their weight, fight malnutrition, enhance intellectual knowledge and personality development, promote educational development, and uplift the living standards. Each child received 200 ml of milk on a regular basis.

Additionally, the organization arranged food kits and distributed them among 311 deprived families in 7 villages.

Livelihood

Livelihood is a major issue in the region, especially among the landless and Scheduled Caste communities. Musahar are fully dependent on agricultural labour activities and are extremely vulnerable. We identified these families in the Dudahi block of Kushinagar district for the promotion of livelihood among this community. As a first step, women were organized into self-help groups and enrolled under the National Rural Livelihood Mission. The project supported poor families by providing livestock, which has become a very effective source of livelihood. With the support of Terre des Hommes (TDH), the organization developed the goat bank among the Musahar community, providing good income to each family.

Mushroom cultivation is in high demand even in rural areas. We trained SHG women and supported them in growing mushrooms in their homes. Now, more than 100 women are producing mushrooms on a regular basis. This is providing each family with an incremental income of Rs. 15,000- Rs. 17,000 per season.

Under agriculture promotion, 283 women developed kitchen gardens and grew green vegetables. This helped reduce malnutrition among children, adolescents, and women. The organization also supported backyard poultry for 150 Musahar families, and it is now thriving.

Under the convergence program, the organization supported villagers in enrolling under MGNREGS. Through our awareness drive families benefited from different government programs, with 283 girls receiving bicycles, 57 girls enrolled under Kanya Sumangla Yojna, 27 families benefiting from health through Ayushman Bharat Yojna, and 143 students receiving scholarships for education.

Skills Development

The organization supported 230 women in the Dudahi block for rope making. These women were provided with 4 kgs of mud straw (Muj) to each family as seed capital. Now, more than 100 women are engaged in this mud rope making, earning an average of Rs. 5000-6000 per month for each family.

Additionally, these community members were supported in establishing a pen-making unit in the village of Tilakpatti in Dudahi block with the support of NRLM.

Sewing and stitching are potential livelihood generation activities for women in rural areas. The organization trained 529 adolescent girls and young women with quality training in sewing, stitching, and embroidery. The majority of them have taken up these activities as avenues of additional incomes.
